While I was pestor of the Baptier Church at Rives Junction the was brought down with Pankmonla succeeding La Grippe. THE BOWDOIN ATHLETES Win Fourth Place at Worcester-E. R. Godfrey, of Bangor, Wins the Shot Put.

The Bowdoin College athletes made in excellent showing at the track and field games of the New England Inter-Collegiate Association taking fourth place among the nine colleges, repreented, making 16 points, an increase of 6 over last year, and being only 3 \( \sigma \) points behind Amberst which took third place. Ernest E. Sawyar, the squ, had stab wounds in the throat and right breas?, wrist troken and face beaten to a jelly. The skulls of the father and mother were crusted. The three bodies were plied together under a hed.

The object of the crime appears to have been robbery. A young man who was seen in company with Sawyer Wednesday evening is, missing. If caught second to Chase, of Dartmouth, the world's champion, in both burdles, and

Kendall and Sinkinson took The Boston Sunday Herald has the following in its account of the games: There were two genuine surprises, in he peor showing of Technology and the remarkably good scoring of Bowdoln The down-casters have stuck to thes games for three or four years, learning but not winning at first, then pleking up an odd second or third, later floding a good long distance runner in Soule, who captured a first for his college two years ago. 'It-day Soule was considered a ago. Tc-day Soule was considered at the outset one of the surset things of the day when the two-mile run was started. Although he felied to win a place, and was even passed by a college mate, Bowdoin captured 16 points, making a very good fourth.

Bowdoin uncovered a shotputting sleeper of the drowslest lings in Godfrey, showed a runer in Kendail worthy of excellent company, while J. H. Horne, who was not altogether unknown horetofore, was a contending factor in at least three events.

One of the funny incidents came up in the discomflure of F. E. Smith, of Brown, in the shot. He has been a crackajack for a long time now, but Godfrey, of Bowdoin, daned to put the shot five inches higher than he did and got a first. There was a prompt protest, based on several things, such as charges of throwing the shot and that he stepped "on" the ring. This developed the fact that the required seven feet diameter took in the boundary marks, and the atblete could step on them if he liked. The protest was not allowed.

The hurdles might be as briefly disminsed, but for the necessity of mentioning Horne, of Bowdoin. S. Chase got both, but Horne actually made the world's champlon hustle in the low hundles. Here showed the makings of a winner in another year.

Before the country had experienced the Cleveland hard times protection was unconstitutional, but now the Democrats themselves are demanding it. They may call it incidental or whilever they please, but the fact remains that the necessity of the protective principle so vigorously denounced in 1802 is now recognized. New Hampshire in common with the rest of th suffered from the effects of the Democratic raid on the tariff. The people of the State have fixed the responfact demonstrated by the increased Republican majority and the Democratic lenders not only realize but almit that it will be impossible to hold even the small remnant of the party together on the old free trade le an article in the Chicago TimerHerald J. A. Watrous pays his respects to l'readdert Eliot as follows:

It is a plty that President Eliot did not take palas to learn something about the class of men who compose the Grand Army, what they have done, are doing, and propose to do during the few years that are left to them, before he made that heartless, uplast attack upon them and their organization. When the president of a great American institution of terming says that the Grand Army "does little more than get what money it can can from the government," what, may not be expected from the millions who have come to us from abroad the past quarter of a century and the other usilions who lave grown to manhood and womanhood since the Grand Army men and tieir million of dead cournades had u hand in preventing the gevernment from running upon the rocks and breaking up into Mexicps?

President Eliot has committed an offense that cannot be overlooked without a wordfrom bim in explanation and apolgy after he has studied the order and familiarized himself with the churacter of its members and their work.

I would "like to introduce President Ellot to the legislative representatives of one State department of the Grand Army now in session at Ruchne. In passing let me say that it is the parent department of the great soldier organization, the one from which all others

Bit by my side, President Eliot, while I point out and speak of some of the men you have grossly insuited and outra-grously traduced. geously traduced.

That mas who is presiding has a netional reputation—is better, known than yourself—pic he was a private—Willium D. Hoard—is has ex-governor of the State, a partiot, a man with as targen personal following in his own State as any man in it; a than who has led he enterprises that have made him the favor-the of hundreds of thousands of as good citizens as there are in the land; entorpiles that have given to the nation liquideds of millions of wealth. Does Department Commander Hoard strike you as a man who has been devoting his infents to robbing the government? President Eliot, shame!

Let us look, in limagination, to a sorrowful home in Madison, where Private Lucius Fairchild of 1861 and General Fairchild, of Gottvaburg, where he left an arm, lies patiently waiting for orders to move neroes the river-the Lucius Fairchild who was Secretary of State, Governor, Foriega Miolister, the chosen Commander-in-Chief of nearly built a million of the noble mon you traduce—the Commander-in-Chief of the Loyal Legion, one of the anticle's grandest characters. one of the intton's grandest characters. A few years ago he held the chair now accupied by Governor Hoard. Would spon a man be the leader of a robber band?

Jand?

I can tell you much of interest about all of these handreds of men before us. Look beyond Madison—out ment the Mississippl—and read the mane on a newly unveiled monument. The owner, of that name was obse tha commissider of the Wisconsin' department. Forty years ago he drove stage over the hills from Prairie du Chien to Viriqua. Then be sat in the State's councils. When war come he didn't wal. for you to lead, President Elliot—he buckled on a sword, and left home until the trouble was ober. Crime Supposed to Have Been Committed After I A. M. Sunday. The Blacksmith Shop at the Poor Farm

Broken late to Get Tools.

People were very much astonished Sunday to learn that a turglary had been committed right in the heart of the business section of the city while people slept. The case is one of the most auda cious known here in many years and it is decidedly surprising that such a thing could have taken place without discovcery, for several reasons. First, there was a bright moon shiplox, which made the streets and even the back yards light; second, the explosion when the safe was blown must have been a lond one, and third the directions.

third, the burglars were in the store a long upparently and did their work so leisurely that is would seem that discory must have been certain. Notwithstanding all these facts a burglary was committed and as a result great mass of wreckage was found in the blg hardware establishment of Rice & Miller, West Market square, Sunday forenoon by Bobert Gurney, one of the clerks, the safe having been blown and papers torn and rumpled, thrown around reckjess disregard. About 10 c'clock yesterday foreiloon Gurney went to the store and after unlocking the front door found that there was some obstruction beilind it. He the door back and forth for some time, pushing hard, and finalis opened it, when he found that a number of clothes hooks had been screwed into the floor against the door so that it could not be opened easily.

This fuct looked decidedly queer to him and he lacked about the store to see just what it meant. Upon going into the office be found that the safe had been blown, the debris scattered all over the floor, glass broken, books and papers strewn all about and all indications of work of general destruction. The police were notified and Chief Uliman and his filters investigated.

To commence at the beginning, it was out Saturday and reported that he had been assaulted with a shovel by his next on a tool which the burgiare had left be door neighbor. E. G. The burglars then proceeded to Rice t Miler's, by what route is only conectured. Some think they went in a bout, but that does not seem probable as the moon was chining so brightly that they should have been poticed in the stream so late at night. The time of their descent is located as being after lo'clock Sunday morning, as Offi lais, was entirely consumed by fire Pri-day afternoon. The alarm was given at a little past o'clock and an effort was made to save the house. When this was found to be impossible all that fould be noticed nothing unusual about the premises. They probably then replaced the shutter in order that the light they must have used would not attract at-tention in the rear. The safe sta ds right at the window. Once inside the robbers screwed the hooks against the front door and at some stage of their operations broke open the cash register the cartridges were laid on the big desk in the office but the revolvers were not These were left behind. The burglars showed a familiarity with the premises by going down cellut and breaking off the lock of the door to the storehouse with the sledge hammer, and securing a crow-bar from the oil shed, which is on the wham. The crow-bar was doubtless to be used in prying the safe door if it should happen to fall in the way after the explesion. In drilling the safe the drill was broken and the bit steck would not sit. The burglers then found one in the store vision would sit any bit and used ir. I've holes were bored in the door of the safe which had the look on it and dynamite was used to blow it off. They formed a cushon for it to fall upon by placing some fib acts and an overcoat upon the floor. The overcoat they left behind them for some reason. We will refer to that later. The explo-The officers in position were Overcer,
